Dedication

An open door policy for all students and faculty . . . with high standards he never settled for second best . . . a friend willing to share burdens . . . hypocrisy was intolerable to him . . . an innovator of new ideas . . . first educator in Connecticut to initiate the modular system . . . an imaginative spirit . . . unlimited trust in the students . . . without his presence, we feel an emptiness, a kind of void. The Class of 1971 in appreciation and gratitude for devoted service takes great pride and honor in dedicating this MILESTONE to

MR. ERNEST C. HATFIELD

Mr. Hatfield proudly toured the new social studies wing with visitors.

The new idea of quarter credit courses appeals to Frank Twohill. This is part of the ever expanding flexibility in the modular scheduling instituted by Mr. Hatfield.

Being together is an integral part of our lives.

We learn to share sorrow and pain, but also to share the joys of personal victories.

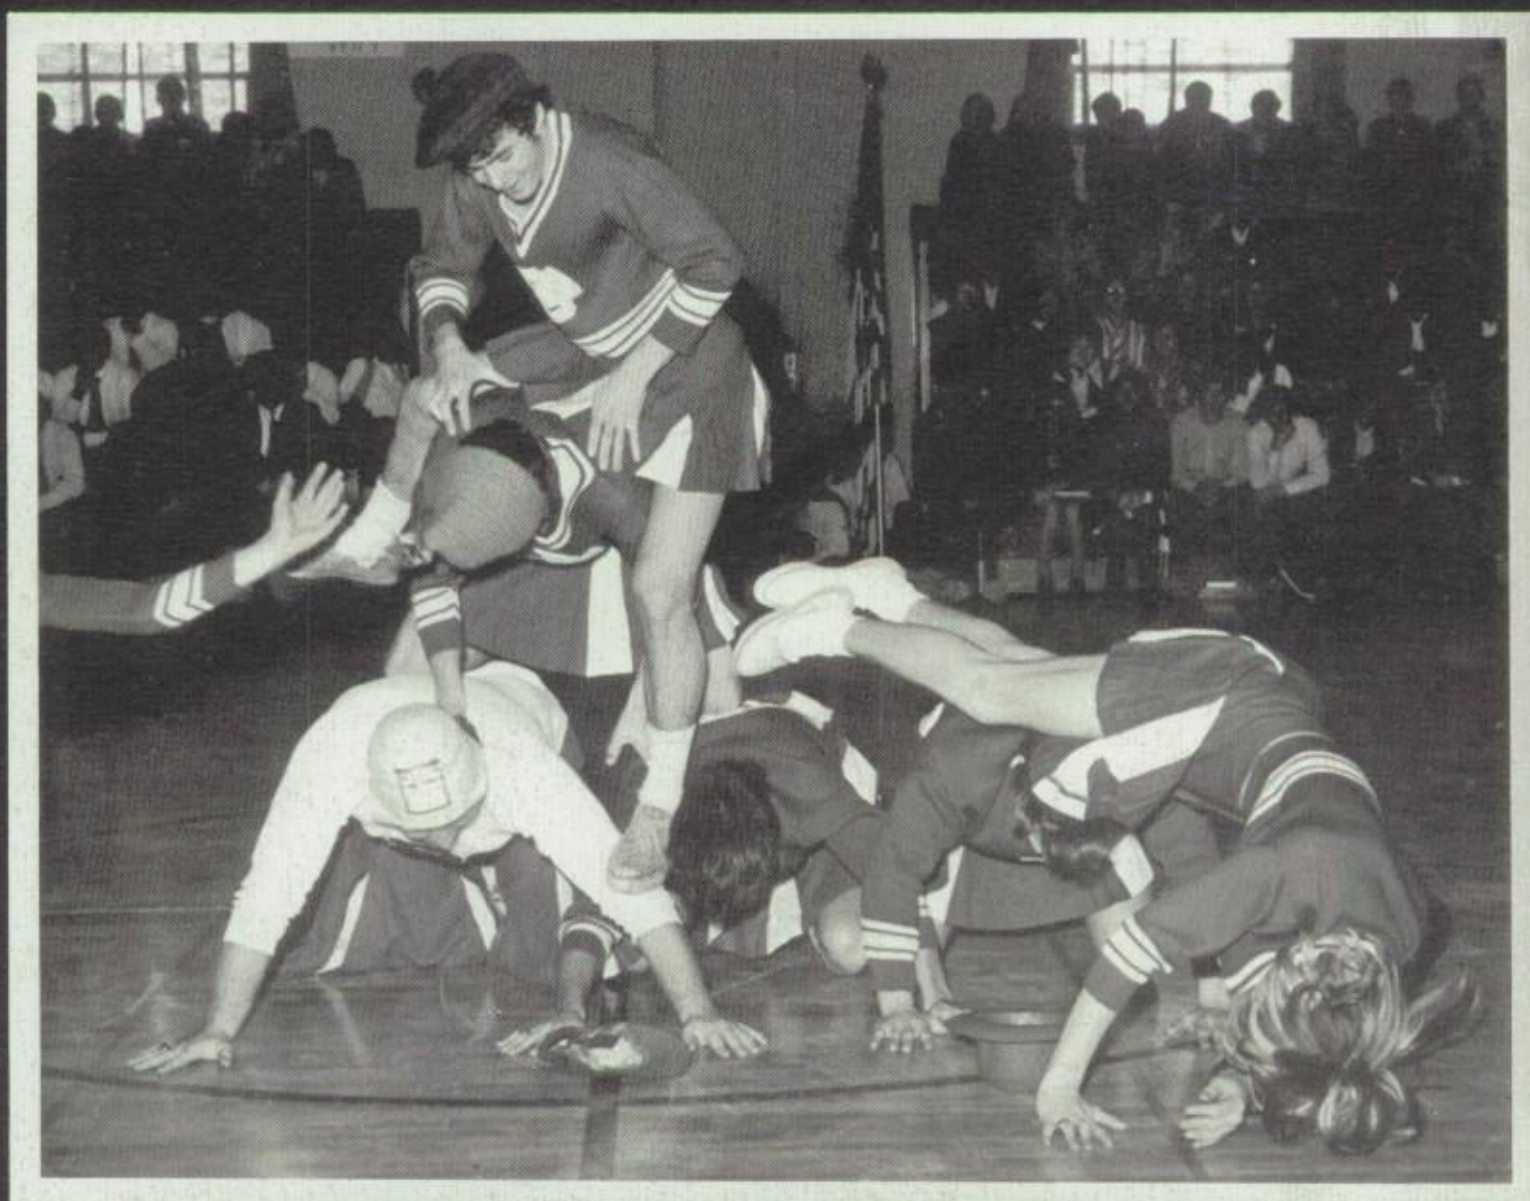

The making of friends, who are true friends, is the best token we have of success in life.

Together, we experience new ideas.

Understanding and thoughtful, the administration helps us work out problems and new ideas together.

In Memoriam

Michael Hoyt

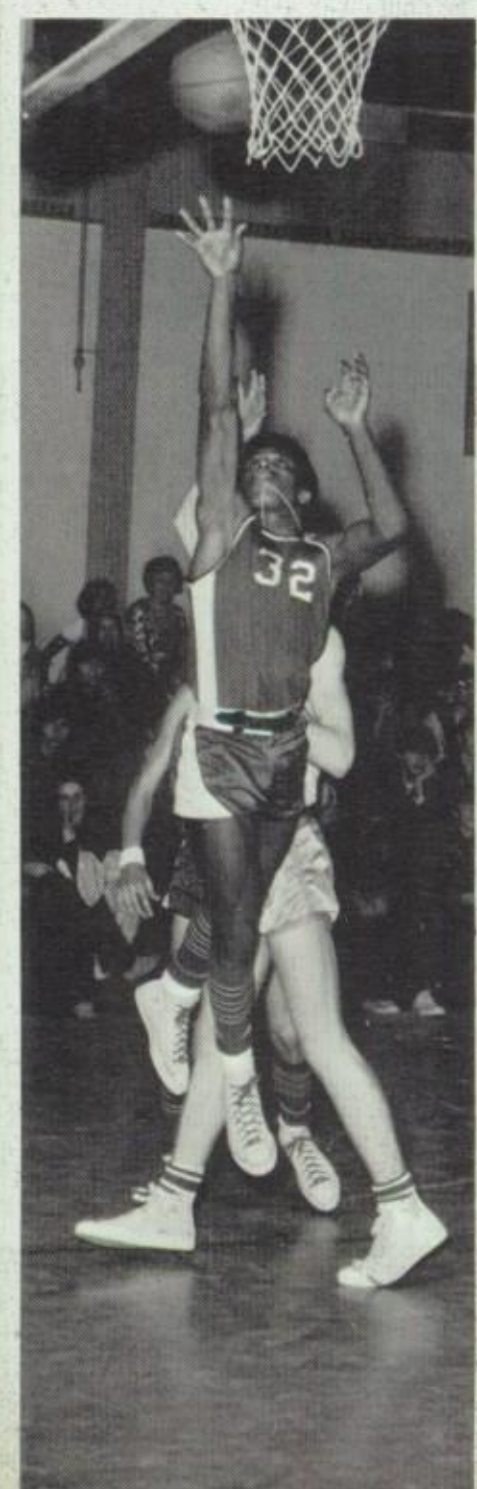

Robert Sarles

Mark Twyford

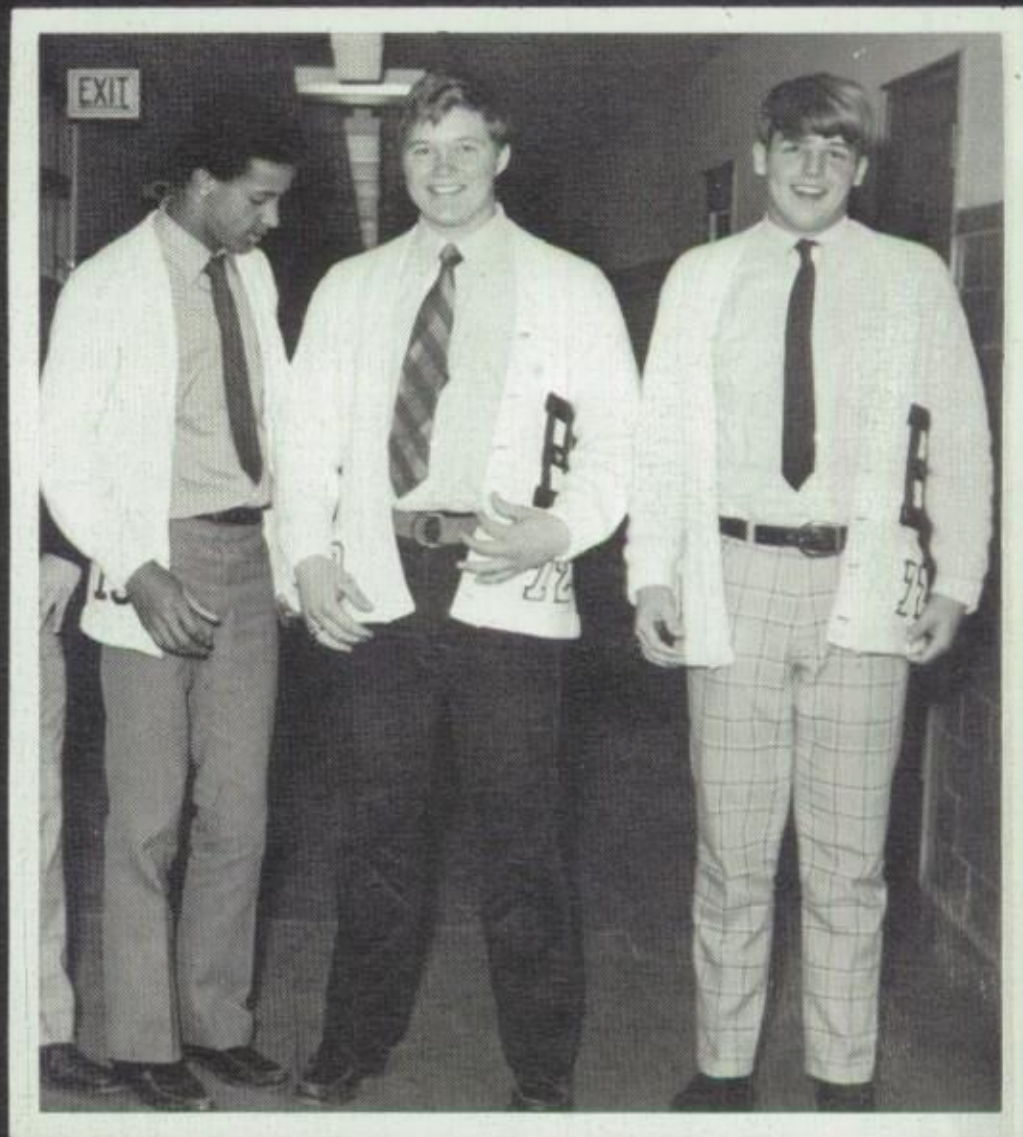

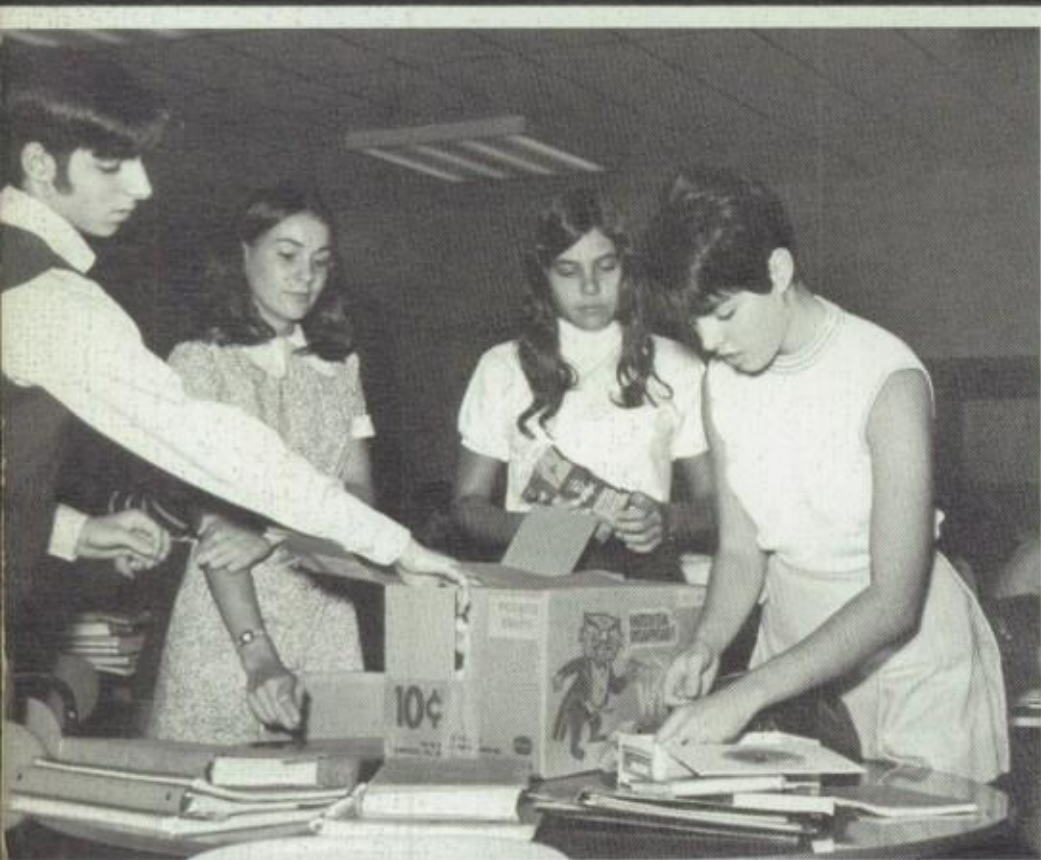

In August of 1970, Michael Hoyt, Robert Sarles, and Mark Twyford died. We look with regret upon the accident which took their lives, remembering the laughing smiles, the hard work, and the friendship we found within them. Yet together we will find strength in the memories they left behind.

Together we grow, learning to love and to hate. From both our friends and our enemies, we discover our real character, as well as our faults. Together, we learn to belong, to care, and to share dreams.

Our future depends on how we have shaped the past and present.

Time waits for no one.
Together we must go.

Acknowledgements

The most important factor in producing a yearbook is cooperation and participation not only by the staff, but by others who lent their efforts and talents.

It is impossible to thank a single photographer because Loring Studio provided us with many. We appreciate the fine quality of all these pictures taken.

Aside from the pictures, the main portion of any yearbook is assembling, enlarging, reducing, setting up galleys and acquainting us with current publication trends. This all falls under the title of publishing. This year we were fortunate enough to have Mr. Jack Brown of O'Toole and Sons as our publisher once again.

Accurate guidance is essential. Valuable criticism was gratefully accepted by the staff. Encouragement when things seemed wrong helped to pull us through. We would like to thank Mrs. Lucila Patch, our advisor, for her never-ending patience and devotion. We never could have done this alone.

The staff would like to take this opportunity to thank all these people who worked so hard to make the 1971 MILESTONE possible.
